Topic: The International Crisis of Human Trafficking

Signatories:

The General Assembly,

Cognizant of modern slavery, more commonly known as human trafficking, as a global epidemic,

Deeply perturbed by the prevalence of the crime,

Calling attention to forty million documented victims,

Having studied the Declaration of Human Rights by the United Nations, Article Four, which prohibits the grievous practice of modern slavery,

1. Reaffirms the importance of evaluating and creating stricter child protection laws to safeguard the most vulnerable citizens of society from unlawful labor practices;
2. Strongly urges all organizations relevant to the United Nations to implement mandated training in primary schools, educating students on the dangers of human trafficking;
3. Requests that each country enacts stricter border security laws, in relation to
 - a. Thoroughly and respectfully questioning individuals and children traveling between countries;
4. Calls for a specialized task force to be established as an international organization in order to combat modern slavery, which will
 - a. Investigate cases related to human trafficking;
 - b. Submit disputes to the International Court of Justice (ICJ);
 - c. Have the authority to detain clear violators of human rights in the context of forced labor;
5. Encourages the implementation of resources to be provided for survivors of human trafficking, including
 - a. Food, shelter, water, and clothing;
 - b. Counseling and mental health services.
